Translucent sea. Palm fronds waving in the breeze. Beachgoers lounging in the sun. No region speaks to total relaxation quite like the Caribbean, with its castaway islands and idyllic resorts.

So how to choose? Leave it to the jet-setting readers of Travel + Leisure who highlight their favorite resorts in the Caribbean, Bermuda, and the Bahamas as part of the annual World's Best Awards survey. In 2012, the 20 best resorts are spread across 10 islands, from Bermuda to the British Virgin Islands, and from romantic all-inclusive sanctuaries to private rainforest verandas. There's a top-notch Caribbean resort out there, whatever your idea of paradise.

No. 14 Ocean Club Resorts, Turks and Caicos

For a cool value option on Turks and Caicos, try the barefoot-chic suites at Ocean Club, which all have seating areas, kitchens, washers and dryers, and furnished balconies. Other extras—poolside grills, free bicycles for exploring, access to the pools/restaurants at sister property Ocean Club West—add bang for your buck.
