

Photo tour: Caribbean luxury at the Four Seasons Anguilla

Melanie Reffes, Special for USA TODAY 10:57 a.m. ET Jan. 23, 2017

Vitamin sea

With more than 3,000 feet of shoreline along Barnes and Meads Bays, the resort is the only one on the island built on two beaches, with plenty of room to spread out. Soft sand, gentle surf and a swim-through grotto at the separation point of both bays add up to sublime snorkeling for phosphorescent fish and coral.

Home to resorts like the Four Seasons, Malliouhana and the Frangipani Beach Club, the beach on Meads Bay ranks in the top three along with Shoal Bay and Rendezvous Bay. Surfers like the big waves, especially during the winter months. On the beach, Sea Center is where you sign up for non-motorized water sports like sailing, windsurfing and snorkeling.

For those who prefer a sand-free afternoon by the water, there are three swimming pools: The adults-only saltwater infinity pool that overlooks the bluff by the Sunset Lounge and a pair of family-friendly pools — Aleta with cabanas for rent and the Bamboo next to the Sea Center on Meads Bay Beach.

<https://www.usatoday.com/story/travel/experience/caribbean/2017/01/23/four-seasons-anguilla/96783118/>